ACANTHACEAE SPECIAL ISSUE

Rheedeia would like to bring out a special issue on Acanthaceae, a taxonomically diverse angiosperm family, distributed throughout the tropical regions of the world with around 5000 species.

We invite manuscripts covering all aspects including new discoveries, new records (for country/continent), taxonomic revisions, nomenclatural notes, molecular phylogeny, and biogeographic studies for publication in the special issue.

Contribute your recent findings in Acanthaceae for this special issue.

Special issue editors:

Deng Yunfei, Mark A. Carine, G. Gnanasekaran, P. Sunojkumar, Santhosh Nampy

The following deadlines are anticipated

Manuscript submission: from now till 31 October 2023

Online publication: 31 December 2023
